MERION CIVIC ASSOCIATION PROTESTS ENORMOUS INCREASE OF WATER RATES FOR FIRE PROTECTION

October 31, 1918.
The Narberth Civic Association,
Narberth, Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen—I beg to hand you here with copy of a resolution adopted by this association at a special meeting of the board of directors regarding increased charges of the Springfield Consolidated Water Company.

Our thought in sending you this resolution is that your association might care to adopt a somewhat similar resolution. If such action is taken, will you please notify Parker S. Williams, Esq., 710 Commercial Trust Building, Philadelphia, who is the attorney for Lower Merion Township Commissioners in charge of this matter before the Public Utilities Commission. Very cordially yours,

Henry F. Ellinger, Secretary.

Resolution

Whereas, the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania by its order dated April 8, 1918, changed the annual rates to be paid by Lower Merion township for water service furnished by the Springfield Consolidated Water Company for fire protection from a flat rate, in force for fifteen years, of $15 for each public fire plug, to the rate of $7 per fire plug plus $355 per mile of pipe, 4 inches or greater in diameter, regarded as affording actual or potential fire protection, thereby increasing the charge for this service on the basis of the number of public fire plugs in service for the year 1911 from $2625 to $9,802.50; and,

Whereas, any such increased charge can only be met by an increase in the rate of taxation for general purposes and must thereby impose an additional tax on many owners of property in sections of the township having no actual or potential fire protection; and,

Whereas, said increased charges are utterly excessive on the basis of the value of the service furnished;

Resolved, that this association hereby expresses its protest against the increased charge for water service for fire protection, approved by the order of the Public Service Commission as aforesaid, and commends the action of the Township Commissioners in taking all proper measures to obtain a modification of said order; and,

Resolved, further, that this association will approve an increase in the minimum rates for domestic consumers fixed by the commission in its said order, if the reduction in the charges for fire protection service would otherwise too greatly reduce the proper annual return to the Springfield Consolidated Water Company on the fair value of its capital invested, the reduction in the charges for fire protection being, in the judgment of this association, essential to the interests of the taxpayers of Lower Merion township.

SCOUT NEWS

The scoutmaster is receiving quite a number of complaints regarding behavior of boys in Narberth, and with the exception of one case, all complaints were of boys not belonging to the scouts, so I feel it advisable to acquaint the citizens of Narberth who the scouts are.

The Woman's Community Club will open the season's program with a luncheon to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Dothard, Wynnewood avenue, Narberth, on Tuesday, November 12, at 1 P. M. The speakers on this occasion will be Mrs. H. S. Prentiss Nichols, president New Century Club of Philadelphia and vice president Eastern district of the Woman's Federation of Clubs of Pennsylvania; Mrs. R. J. Hamilton, president Woman's Club of Ardmore, also president of the Montgomery County Federation of Woman's Clubs; Miss Marion Goentner, president "The Neighbors" of Hatboro. Musical numbers are being arranged by Mrs. Joseph Barclay, chairman of the musical department of the club.

SUFFRAGE NEWS

We shall fight for things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own government.

The November meeting of the Narberth Branch of the Woman's Suffrage party will be held on Friday, November 8, at 3 P. M., at the home of Mrs. William H. Pugh, Sycamore and Merion avenues, Merion. Any one interested in suffrage is invited to be present.

To the Women of the Fourth Liberty Loan Committee of Narberth:

To the members of the above committee I wish to extend my sincerest congratulations and thanks for their splendid achievements and energetic co-operation during the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

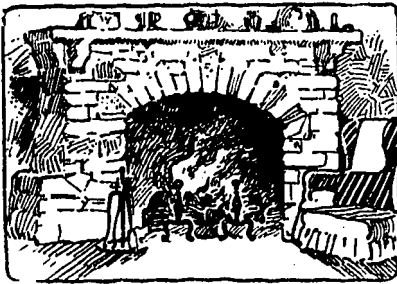

That wonderful results attended the women's efforts despite the very trying conditions, will be appreciated when it is understood that they received application for nearly two and a half times as much as on the previous loan. Considering that there were several channels through which Narberth was enabled to more than double her quota and that over half of this amount was obtained by the Woman's Committee alone speaks for itself. Again expressing my appreciation, I am sincerely yours,

Chairman of Woman's Fourth Liberty Loan Committee of Narberth.

The Call to the Week or Prayer for Young Men

To the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America:

The week of prayer for young men for the year 1918 falls within a spacious, momentous and fateful time. Truly we are living in great days; great in upheaval and overturning; great in literally old things are passing away and all things are becoming new; great in adventure and constructive achievement; great in sacrifice and suffering for see the 11,000,000 and more war-filled graves and the many other millions of the mutilated and the maimed, and the countless sorrow-stricken and anxious homes; great in the discovery and releasing of men's latent capacities for heroism and unselfish devotion; great in the challenges summoning men to enter with wide plans and God-touched spirits into new and better days.

Times like these not only demand all that is best in men but also call us to prayer that the power of the Living God may be manifested. The Association Movement, like everything else in these days, is being tried as by fire. Our dangers are so many and so grave, our tasks so greatly exceed our powers, and our opportunities so far transcend our visible resources that nothing short of a fresh and wonderful accession of superhuman wisdom and might will suffice. Therefore, let us during the days November 10 to 16, give ourselves to prayer and likewise call upon our entire brotherhood and its multitude of friends to pray.

On behalf of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Alfred E. Marling, Chairman.

John R. Mott, General Secretary.

Hints on the Observance of the Week of Prayer

Let each one to whom this call comes resolve that he will faithfully observe the week. This will not only prove to be our most profitable employment but to our invitation to others to pray it will lend truly communicative power.

Among the objects of prayer on which we may well concentrate intercession are the following:

(1) For the men of our army and navy and of the Allied forces, that they may win the war, and that they may do so without losing their own souls.

(2) For all who suffer in hospitals or who languish in prisoner-of-war camps, that they may be given patience to endure and that they may be restored to their homes.

(3) For the work of the association on behalf of the soldiers and sailors, that it may become increasingly efficient and fruitful in spiritual results.

(4) That the home work and the foreign work of the American and Canadian Associations may not only meet the present war demands but also be prepared for the far greater responsibilities of the periods of demobilization and reconstruction.

(5) That leaders may be raised up capable of meeting the unparalleled opportunities which are to crowd the coming days.

WHAT MR. BROOKS DID

At the recent luncheon given by the chairman of the Fourth Liberty Loan Mr. John B. Brooks, of Dudley avenue was appointed chairman of the Coal Trades. Owing to the pressure of business Mr. Brooks found it impossible to accept the honor conferred upon him, but advised he would do all he could in raising subscriptions for the loan. On the last day when the loan was far below the quota, Mr. Brooks turned in subscriptions amounting to $2,200,000, and is the recipient of a letter from the chairman commending him on the wonderful work he had done.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock.

CIVIC ASS'N MEETING

A meeting of the Narberth Civic Association was held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening last, November 1; President Joseph H. Nash in the chair. The committee for signs to be placed at the various entrances to the borough was continued. It is in conference with borough officials and is authorized to divide the expense with the borough.

A letter was read from Postmaster Haws, relative to making the approach to the Post Office more convenient to people coming from the railroad station, by doing away with the high step from the street level to the level of the pavement, directly in front of the entrance. This letter was referred to the Street Commissioner, as it was considered a matter for borough action.

The secretary was instructed to write letters of appreciation and thanks to Mr. Joyce, St. Francis de Sales Band, the Liberty Loan song leaders, the vocal soloists and others whose services had not been previously acknowledged formally.

Reports of receipts and expenditures in connection with the Narberth Patriotic Fete were presented. A detailed report of the receipts of the various booths and other features was published in Our Town last week. This gave the total amount of net receipts from these sources as $1820.87. To this was added proceeds of sale of airplane 21.40

Making a total of $1842.27

The general expenses, in addition to the expenses of the respective booths, which were cared for out of their gross receipts, were as follows:

General Expenses

Less paid by or due from advertisers ...	220.00	200.00
Total		457.76
Leaving a net balance of receipts of		$1384.51

A letter was received from the Narberth Civic Association relative to the excessive charges of the Springfield Water Company for water service for fire protection. This was accompanied by a resolution adopted by the association protesting against these greatly increased charges, and commending the action of the Township Commissioners in taking all proper measures to obtain a modification of them. In 1917 Lower Merion township paid $2625 for this service, and the increase for 1918 was to $9,802.50 or an increase over 1917 of 1035 per cent.

The American people are daily receiving lessons in economy. We have had the reputation of being the most wasteful people in the world. Now that we are counting our teaspoons of sugar and shovelfuls of coal, we are learning the importance of small economies. The suggestions of Mr. Baruch, printed in this issue, will teach us how to save paper in many ways.

The Council of the borough of Narberth has found it necessary to make a change in the method of collecting ashes in the borough.

Owing to the scarcity of labor and to other war-time conditions, it will not be possible to collect ashes from cellars of houses during the present winter.

Beginning November 15, therefore, ashes will be collected only when placed in receptacles outside of the houses and within convenient access from the street.

The co-operation of all householders is requested in the enforcement of this regulation with the assurance from Council that the present method will be restored as soon as conditions will permit.

It is gratifying to learn that our Civic Association heartily endorses the action of the Merion Civic Association in its formal protest against the enormous increase in charges for water service for fire protection established by the Springfield Water Company. We commend our readers to read very carefully the letter and resolution of protest printed in another column of this issue. A similar protest will be sent by our Civic Association.

As we understand the situation in Narberth, the charges will be increased here from $420 per annum to $2897.55. We formerly paid $15 for each fire plug. This charge was reduced by the Springfield Water Company to $7 per fire-plug, but to this they added the enormous sum of $355 per mile of pipe, 4 inches or more in diameter. By this ingenious arrangement, they will extort from the taxpayers of Lower Merion township $27,177.50 more for this service in 1918 than was paid in 1917, namely, $2625. The township does not propose to submit tamely to this extortion.

We regret that our vocabulary is hardly equal to characterizing this action on the part of the water company. Our readers, however, are undoubtedly in possession of a collection of vigorous and expressive epithets that will do ample justice to the subject.

Our local water pipes were installed early in 1895, soon after the formation of the borough. At that time there was no thought of fire protection, 4-inch pipe for household service being installed. Many years later some 6-inch pipe was installed. There can, therefore, be no argument that this expensive charge is to pay for extra large pipe installed for fire protective service.

As long as water service is furnished by private enterprise, it is only fair that those who undertake it should have full and adequate compensation. No reasonable citizen will object to this. But when rates are raised to such an extent, a halt should be called. We have no doubt that our Council and its counsel will take all necessary steps to combat this question, and they may rest assured that they have back of them every citizen of the borough.

ANOTHER LIBERTY LOAN COMING

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has announced that, no matter what the results of the pending overtures for peace may be, there will be another Liberty Loan. To use his expression, "We are going to have to finance peace for a while just as we have had to finance war."

There are over 2,000,000 United States soldiers abroad. If we transport these men back to the United States at the rate of 300,000 a month, it will be over half a year before they are all returned. Our army, therefore, must be maintained, victualled, and clothed for many months after peace is an actuality.

The American people, therefore, having supported the Liberty Loan with a patriotism that future historians will love to extol, will have an opportunity to show the same patriotism in financing the just and conclusive victorious peace whenever it comes.

Not for a moment, however, is the Treasury acting on any assumption that peace is to come soon. Until peace is actually assured the attitude of the Treasury and the attitude of the whole United States Government is for the most vigorous prosecution of the war, and the motto of force against Germany without stint or limit will be acted up to until peace is an absolute accomplished fact.

One more Liberty Loan, at least, is certain. The fourth loan was popularly called the "Fighting Loan"; the next can may be a fighting loan, too, or it may be a peace loan. Whatever the conditions, the loan must be prepared for and its success rendered certain and absolute. Begin now to prepare to support it.

PIKERS, PROFITEERS AND PATRIOTS

To the Editor of Our Town:

If the reader has perused in the current edition of the Saturday Evening Post a story showing how some of the large industrial plants of the United States of America have become 100 per cent. patriotic, he will understand the meaning of the above title.

We do not generally give precedence in the title to the most despised individual, but he is the subject of this article.

The profiteer can be dismissed by a word, as he is wholly for himself and fortunately there is not many of him. But the piker is the man who, when his building association stock is paid off, looks for the highest return on his principal sum and puts thousands into dividend paying stocks when he should buy Liberty Bonds. The piker is the woman who works one-half a day at the Red Cross and then orders extra sugar for her family with the excuse that she will need it for preserving. The piker is the man who adds a few extra tons to his coal declaration to the fuel administrator in the hope of secretly receiving enough to carry him over the winter.

The girl who gets a "war work" position at an unusual salary when she could afford to and is competent to act as a nurse is just as much a piker as the business man who won't take a Government order unless he gets an advance profit on his materials.

Another particularly despised piker is the small manufacturer who takes a Government order in order to list his plant among the essentials and then goes on making money out of his private contracts.

What's the use! There are thousands of pikers who are holding back the rapid completion of our main object and scudding around like roaches in the dark.

Until we get 100 per cent. efficiency in the United States of America our boys will continue to die at the front and our worst traitors are the pikers. Simply because they are so numerous and so sly, and so hard to catch and hold, and will not realize that it is their own selfishness that is contributing to the casualty list in each edition of our newspapers.

Yes, we have done a great deal, but we must do a great deal more before we can see this war end.

The greatest hypocrite is the man who tries to deceive himself about his patriotism when he can easily see before him countless hundreds who belong to the 100 per cent. class.

Dear reader, are you a piker or a patriot?

Note—This is not written to mean any one in particular, so if you apply it to yourself it will be your own conscience speaking.

SAVING OFFICE STATIONERY

Seven Suggestions by B. M. Baruch, Chairman War Industries Board

Chairman B. M. Baruch, of the War Industries Board, has had drawn up the following seven suggestions to business men for the saving of office stationery:

1. Write single space, except between paragraphs.
2. Write on both sides in case of long letters.
3. Use half or two-third sheets for short letters. Where possible eliminate excessive advertising and long lists of officers and directors from letter heads, especially where changes are likely to occur.
4. Use 16-pound paper and the smallest size envelopes required by the enclosure.
5. Use the backs of letters being answered for the purpose of making carbons.
6. Use post cards for acknowledgments.
7. Watch your waste baskets and use the spoiled sheets and backs of envelopes for scratch pads.

These suggestions are along the lines of those recently adopted by government offices in Washington, and their general adoption, it is believed, would result in the saving of a large tonnage of high-grade paper and aid the government in securing its requirements of paper and pulp for war purposes.

A Drug Store in the Most Modern Sense of the Term

"Morning, sir! Hair-cut, sir? Shave, sir?" sang out the obsequious barber. "Shave, please," said the client, seating himself in the chair. "And I'm in rather a hurry."

"Quite so, sir," went on the assistant, lathering the customer's face. "I pride myself on my quick methods, sir."

Then he brought the razor into operation.

A few lightning strokes and first blood was drawn.

"Sorry, sir," apologized the man, scraping away, and making gashes here and there, till the operation was at last concluded. "Want anything on your face, sir?"

"Well," said the customer, ruefully surveying himself in the glass, "I'd be obliged if you'd leave my nose!"

TOO USEFUL TO LOSE

The great detective stood before the rich merchant waiting for his instructions.

"It's this way," began the merchant. "I have been robbed of hundreds of dollars. A rascal has gone about the country pretending to be a collector of ours. He has simply coined money. Why, in a week he collected more than all our travelers put together. He must be found as quickly as possible. Spare no expense."

"Right," said the detective. "Within a week he will be in prison."

"Prison! What do you mean?" cried the merchant. "I don't want him arrested; I want to engage him."

The prize for optimism is awarded to a resident of one of the rural districts of Wales. As the story goes, an old man was sitting on the roof of his house during a flood, watching the waters flow past, when a neighbor, who possessed a boat, rowed across to him.

"Halloa, Ted," he said.

"Halloa, Dave," replied the other.

"All your fowls washed away this morning, Ted?"

"Yes, but the ducks can swim."

"Apple trees and all that gone, too eh?"

"Well, they said they crops would be a failure, anyhow."

"I see the water has reached above your windows now."

"That's all right, Dave. Them windows needed washin' badly."

Church Notes

The sermon subject Sunday morning will be, "The Divine Right of Kings vs. the Divine Right of Democracy." We are endeavoring to make the world safe for democracy, but unless we put religion into our patriotism freedom will not be secure. The pastor will also give a children's sermon on the subject, "Our Glorious Flag."

At the B. Y. P. U. meeting Sunday evening the young people will begin the race to San Francisco, over the Lincoln Highway, in autos. You are invited to join the crowd. The new officers of the union will be installed with appropriate services conducted by the pastor.

The evening worship will be in honor of the boys from the congregation in the country's service. National songs of our own and our Allies will be sung. Mrs. F. C. Patton will play the "Star-Spangled Banner" on the cornet. Pictures of the boys will be thrown upon the canvas with the stereopticon as a message from them will be given.

The public is invited to join most cordially in any or all of these services.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. John Van Ness, Minister

Meetings for next Sunday:

10.00 A. M.—All departments of the Sabbath school.

11.00 A. M.—Public worship and celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

4.00 P. M.—Junior C. E. Society led by the president, Miss Martha A. Martin.

7.00 P. M.—Senior C. E. Society led by the president, Miss Agnes M. Rose.

7.45 P. M.—Evening worship with sermon on the theme, "Elijah in Hiding."

Church Notes

It is very gratifying to get back to normal conditions in our church work again. At the rally day exercises last Sunday morning there were over 200 present.

Mr. Howard A. Banks, associate editor of the Sunday School Times, was installed ruling elder in this church last Sunday morning.

The monthly "all-day meeting" of the ladies will be held in this church next Tuesday. Ladies' Aid Society meeting in the morning, followed by luncheon and missionary meeting in the afternoon.

NARBERTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"The Little Church on the Hill"

Rev. F. M. Gray, Pastor

Last Sunday our church was well attended at all the services. Nineteen were received into church membership at the Communion service. Over seventy were present at our first meeting of the children's church, and the church was crowded in the evening service and heard the remarkable address by Mr. William B. Lewis and saw his wonderful relics, including one of the three life belts recovered from the Lusitania. A generous offering of $100 was given for the relief of French orphans.

This Wednesday, 8 P. M., November 6, letters will be read from Lieutenant Harold D. Speakman, Charles Ensinger, Lieutenant H. Newton Compton and Sergeant Joseph Dold. The pastor will speak on subject, "About Jesus."

Services for Sunday, November 10:

9.45 A. M.—Sunday school.

11.00 A. M.—Morning service with sermon by the Rev. G. Bickley Burns, D. D., our District Superintendent. We hope to have a crowded church to hear this respected and eloquent preacher.

3.00 P. M.—Children's church with children's choir and ushers. The pastor will give an illustrated talk. All children under 16 years of age are specially welcome.

7.00 P. M.—Epworth League.

7.45 P. M.—Special music and sermon by the pastor on the subject, "The Real Motive for Christian Living." Everybody welcome.

"Doctor," said he, "I'm a victim of insomnia. I can't sleep if there's the least noise, such as a cat on the back fence, for instance."

"This powder will be effective," replied the physician, after compounding a prescription.

"When do I take it, doctor?"

"You don't take it. You give it to the cat, in a little milk."

If fish could talk, anglers would have to revise their yarns.

A NEWSY LETTER FROM "BILL" DURBIN

R. H. Durbin who has three sons in as many branches of the United States army, has received the following letter from Bill, which will be of interest to his many friends in Narberth:

France, October 6, 1918.

You are no doubt wondering why you haven't heard from me for some time. I was on a seven-day furlough. I went to Lyon, Marseilles and Nice. At Nice I spent my seven days and had a dandy time.

Our train pulled out of Chatel-Guyon at 8.45 on the morning of September 23. At Riom we changed trains and took the P. L. and M. for St. Germain des Fosses, where we again changed cars for Lyon. Arriving in Lyon about 4 P. M., we tripped up and down a few of the streets and finally decided to take over a few eggs and some chocolate in a restaurant near the station. Our train pulled out of Lyon about 6 P. M., and here began a miserable night for all of us. Six of us in a compartment meant for eight with two civilians, one with his wife and howling kid. After many stops, stans and jerks, our train arrived unharmed in the foul smelling station of Marseilles at 4 in the morning, September 24. Of course, our first thought was of food and drink. We finally came across a large canteen with a sign out front calling our attention to the fact that all Allied soldiers were welcome. When I first stepped inside I thought I was in Cugley and Mullin's, but on taking another sniff and further notice, I saw that these were larger than the usual run of pels. A respectable goat would condemn the place. There were surely soldiers of the Allied nations there—British, French, Algerians, both dark and light, and we brought in some more strange looking representatives. Here you could buy food and drinks of all kinds as well as a stall to sleep in.

At 5.30 the train for Nice gave way and here as before, we were out of luck on a private compartment. We had two French soldiers, who, however, turned out to be good traveling companions. We made many stops, which enabled us to pick figs and grapes. I never thought there ever was a place so beautiful. When we reached St. Raphael our train ran right along the sea and here is where I decided to spend all my winters on the Mediterranean. All the way from St. Raphael to Nice we did not lose sight of the beautiful sea and the many chateaus and surrounding palms, which were along its shores. All this beauty was to the right. Looking to the left and high upon the terraced mountains green with the growth of olive trees, you could see occasional fortresses.

We landed in Nice only too soon, and after being registered by the M. P. at the station, we started in search of the hotel of his recommendation. We found the Hotel Le Jetu, a good place to sleep and the International restaurant just around the corner, a good place to satisfy hunger.

We all put in early on Tuesday night, and, believe me, the white sheets felt good after being so long between blankets and after two days and a night on the French trains without sleep. In the morning we took a walk over for our portion of sugar and bread tickets and from there through the curb market. There we found about a quarter of a mile of all kinds of flowers and every vegetable imaginable, as well as snails and all sorts of fruit. In the afternoon we all took a dip in the salty blue Mediterranean, where the beach was of pebbles and the walking hard, especially for me, as my instep makes a hole in the ground. In the evening we kidded a few of the regulars and got to bed early, as we contemplated a trip to Monte-Carlo in the morning.

September 26, Thursday, we left the English Y. M. C. A. on the Promenade D'Anglais in a limousine of English make. There were only about a dozen cars in the whole city and here were six buck privates with their chauffeur in a car with fine upholstery, riding down the boulevard along the sea, turning up our noses at the plebeian rich who walked up and down the promenade with their Pomeranian companions. We took a beautiful road, one of the finest in the world, they say, to a little old Roman village, La Turbie by name, which is high up on a hill in back of Monte Carlo and Monaco. From here we had a wonderful view of the two little towns we were about to enter. From La Turbie we took a tramway car which ran on cogs down the hill to Monte Carlo, and here I saw what I believe must be the prettiest spot on earth. The Casino is wonderful and the Hotel de Paris just across the way is a wonder. At 9 o'clock we were allowed in the Casino to see all the gambling rooms and tables, the beautiful paintings and the costly theatre with the wonderful box for the Prince. I would rather lose my money there than any place in the world. Play started at 9.30 and all soldiers had to leave, so I had no chance to lay a bet. At about 10 o'clock we took a car for Mentone, which is a pretty little town on the border of France. We walked about a mile to a bridge which crossed a ravine and which joined France with Italy. Here in Italy we bought postcards and sent them home. After taking a few pictures we left for Mentone to search for food before getting the trolley back to Monte Carlo. This is a beautiful ride, taking you among the hills, through vineyards and flower gardens, past palm trees and lemon trees and always the blue Mediterranean.

Arriving again in Monte Carlo we met a woman who had spent a good part of her life there and who was now running a hotel and taking out sightseeing parties. I asked her if she could get me a chip as a souvenir of the gambling joint. She went in and bought us each a five-franc chip. She then directed us to the Palace of the Prince of Monaco upon the hill in Ville-Monaco. We had very little time to take it in, as we had to be back at La Turbie at 4 o'clock to get our motor car home. We saw the palace, however, and one of the splendid museums.

Our chauffeur took us home on a different road which was a marvel. He pointed out several Roman ruins around which were still standing little old villages. Finally we landed in Nice once more, satisfied that we had spent a good day, had a good time and learned much.

Eight o'clock found us all in bed and wondering what the morrow would bring forth. It brought forth rain and gave me a chance to take note of my travels. The afternoon brought with it the sun and with the sun came many people to throng the promenade, which is the same as the boardwalk at one of our resorts. We once more donned our one-piecers and made for the drink. The water was great and we made a good afternoon of it.

Saturday was a bumming day, with bathing in the afternoon and strolling in the evening. Again on Sunday we took the trolley for Monte Carlo to visit the Prince's palace and his museum. It was very interesting and very educational. Had lunch in the Prince's front yard and then took the trolley home, so as to be in time for the afternoon dip.

Monday morning, while in the drink, I met a little wonder swimming around pretty far out. She asked me to swim to Algeria with her, but I told her I wasn't the duck she was and that I would rather swim back to Nice. She agreed and we returned to the pebbles and had a little talk in broken English and badly bent French.

Monday afternoon in the briny again. Felt pretty poor when I went in and had to come out with cramps. Monday night I was as sick as I ever was in my life, but was able to take the usual plunge on Tuesday morning. In the afternoon Ashly Howes and myself took a little walk up the main street; saw the first automat I have seen in France.

Wednesday morning at 6.27 we went over to the station to get the train for what we call home, Chatel-Guyon. We made the stops again at Lyon and Marseilles and arrived in Chatel-Guyon at about 6 P. M. on Thursday. Now you know where I was and what I was doing. I hope you are interested.

passed several weeks in a western trip, stopping at Sioux City, Iowa.

Quite a number of the Fourth Liberty Loan solicitors have not as yet returned their large name and address envelope, to address as noted by rubber stamp on bottom of envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace I. McConnell entertained as week-end guests at their home, 320 Merion avenue, Dr. and Mrs. Ervin C. Semmel and Mr. and Mrs. R. Cortland Breneizer, of Philadelphia.

The Christmas sale of practical gifts and a home bake will be held by the Women's Community Club some time in the earlier part of December. Exact time and place to be announced later.

Up until last Saturday there had been 85 patients received at the new Emergency Hospital at Bryn Mawr. Of this number 21 recovered and 18 died. There were 40 male patients and 45 females.

Miss Grace Haight, of Windsor avenue, who is in New England, will remain in Roxborough for part of the winter. Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Robinson, of the United States Naval Hospital, are occupying Miss Haight's home for the winter.

The extension of a credit of $9,000,000 to Belgium made recently makes the total advances by the United States to Belgium $80,020,000. The total amount advanced to date to all our associates in the war against Germany is $7,529,476,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weyman, of Philadelphia, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, Jane Kemble, on Friday, October 26. Mr. Weyman, who is in the U. S. Air Service, is stationed in Texas. Mrs. Weyman will be remembered as Miss Hulda Jefferies.

Three widely known officers from the Main Line have been killed in action, according to reports to their families this week. They are: Lieutenants W. H. S. Schutz, St. Davids; Horace B. Forman, 3d, Haverford, who is in a aviation corps, and Benjamin Bullock, 3d, Ardmore.

Including cash received in the Treasury Department on October 21 from the sale of War Savings securities, the total Treasury receipts from this source amounted to $801,453,415.86. This represents the purchase of War Savings stamps to the total maturity value of approximately $950,824,474.10.

"Inside the Lines," to be shown at the Palace Theatre, Ardmore, on Wednesday, was one of the first stage war plays and a notable success in New York and elsewhere. The story deals with a German spy in a sound and well constructed photoplay, and in which spies, love, intrigue and adventure are carefully blended. A capital story with an unusual surprising finish is "Inside the Lines."

The Narberth High School Alumni Association wishes to take this opportunity to extend their heartiest thanks to those, not in the association, who gave so willingly their time and labor to make their play a success. Especially Mr. Rollin Toubill, Mr. Howard Conlin, Mr. Gordon Hamilton, Mr. Gordon Harris, Mr. Hill and Mr. Guy Gundaker. The last wishes to thank Miss Boynton for her untiring services as coach.

It is reported that Jimmie, the long to be remembered driver for Scott-Powell dairies, has offered and surrendered his life in action "over there." Jimmie will not be soon forgotten by those in Narberth whom he served in more ways than one. His cheerfulness and readiness made him very popular, so that to many his absence will be a real personal loss. Our sincere sympathy is extended to the members of his family to whom his removal will mean more than we can know.

A wise man doesn't argue with a woman because he expects it to do any good, but because it gives her pleasure.

Fair, but false—the blond wig.

NARBERTH RED CROSS

HOW TO SEND CHRISTMAS BOX TO THE SOLDIER "OVER THERE"

No Christmas parcels can be sent overseas after November 20, 1918.

The War Department will permit only one package to be sent a soldier.

The soldier to whom the Christmas remembrance is sent must send an official personal label to the sender. These labels are expected to arrive November 1.

All gifts, which must not exceed two pounds fifteen ounces in weight, must be packed in the official cardboard carton. This measures 3x4x9 inches. These cartons can be obtained only at Red Cross distributing and collecting stations, established at convenient points in this city.

Presentation of the official personal label sent by the soldier for whom the Christmas gift is intended must be made in order to receive one of the official mailing cartons. This is the only way in which Christmas presents for the men overseas can be sent.

When filled, cartons must be returned, unwrapped, with the official personal label, to Red Cross room. There its contents will be examined, the carton weighed and wrapped and the soldier's label affixed by Red Cross attendants. The packed cartons will be mailed by the Red Cross. The sender will only be required to pay 7 cents postage to Hoboken, N. J.

Christmas cards bearing the names of individual senders may be enclosed in the packages. But no written notes or letters can be enclosed.

No parcels will be sent that contain articles barred by the postal authorities. One cannot send matches, poisons, cigarette lighters, inflammable or explosive materials or liquor of any kind. No glass or fragile articles can be mailed.

Nothing must be packed in the cartons that is apt to spoil. Dried or glass fruits should be enclosed in tin or wooden boxes; candies in tin or substantial cardboard boxes. Soft candies should be avoided.

No one can personally mail a Christmas package to a soldier overseas. Remember that. All parcels must go through the Red Cross. Directions for sending them are explicit.

Cut this instruction list out and save it for your guidance. It will save you much worry and trouble if you comply with the requirements.

The rules only apply to parcels sent to United States soldiers and marines in foreign countries.

The Navy Department will have other regulations.

THE EXPLANATION

The youthful orator came down from the platform at the close of his address and many people pressed forward to shake him by the hand. He accepted their congratulations with a smiling face, but his eyes were on a certain man who lingered in his seat. The young lecturer pressed through the throng about him and extended his hand to the waiting man.

"I want to thank you," he said to that gentleman, "for the close attention you gave to my remarks. Your upturned face was an inspiration to me. I am sure you never changed your earnest attitude during my lecture."

"No," said the man; "but don't flatter yourself on that account; I have a stiff neck."

HOT PAINT

A farmer, hearing a commotion at the back of his house, hurried out to find his little boy enjoying himself immensely by chasing some frightened farm laborers round the yard armed with a red-hot poker.

After a severe lecture from his father, the youngster promised that he would never do it again.

A day or two later the same commotion was heard, and the same youth was found causing havoc with the self-same poker.

"How dare you?" said the irate parent.

"But, father—" interrupted the young culprit.

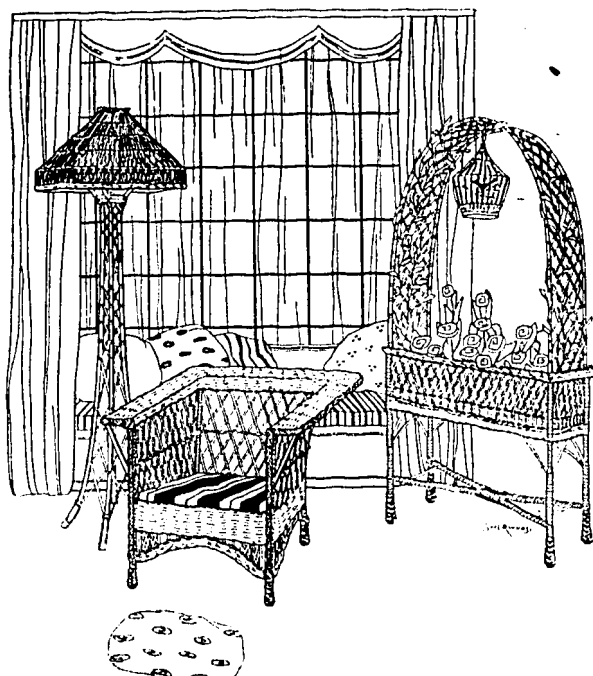

"Don't 'but' father me, sir!"

The youngster, however, convinced of the satisfactory nature of his explanation, would not be silenced.

"But, father," he said, "it's only painted this time!"

Domestic discord is an apple of which the man in the case gets the core.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION MEETING

cent. (one thousand and thirty-five per cent.).

The secretary of the Merion Civic Association, Mr. Henry P. Ellinger, suggested that the Narberth Civic Association adopt a similar resolution. A resolution to this effect was offered and unanimously adopted. In another column the letter and resolution of the Merion Civic Association are published in full.

A suggestion was made and adopted that the tree planting charter be displayed in the Y. M. C. A. lobby. Subscriptions were received for eight additional trees to be planted, three in honor of the three sons of Mrs. Edward Odell, and one each for Perry Redifer, Alan Rose, Alan Kirk, Frank Foster and Earl Fletcher Smith.

President Nash made some suggestions for future activities of the association, one being for a grand concert to be organized and given mainly by local talent. The many high-class professional and amateur musicians of Narberth, it was considered, would insure the complete success of such an undertaking. On motion, meeting adjourned.

When a woman begins to draw a man out she has a plan on tap for pulling him in.

Good Wear Shoe Repair Shop. Constantine, B. G. Y. M. C. A. Bldg. The above department should be of the greatest use to the community. The list contains the name of every professional man, tradesman, mechanic, shopkeeper, etc., who does or can in any way serve his fellow-townsmen, and who is progressive enough to add name to list of Register. As it is difficult for those contributing their time and efforts to the production of "Our Town" to personally either know or interview all such, it would be most helpful if those not now found in the printed list would send in a memo of their names, address, phone numbers and businesses or professions for listing. This will cost as follows: 10 cents each issue for 2 lines; 5 cents for each additional line. |
